Compressed Air Rifle 9003 Premium S2 with aluminum stock Precise

ANSCHÜTZ®
DIE MEISTER MACHER

PRODUKTINFORMATION

Only real innovations and an absolutely new technology lead you to the best results! The model 9003 Premium is the new definition for top class target compressed air rifles.

System
Recoil and vibration-free ANSCHÜTZ compressed air barreled action. Tension free connection and vibration damping fixing of the barreled action in the aluminum stock through patent-pending Soft Link® shock absorber pads and absolutely maintenance-free stabilizer working axially to shot release. Ultra-short lock time due to compound materials, optimized firing pin and new trigger unit. New and innovative safety concept.

Stock

- A progressional and millimetre accurate scaling exclude mix-ups of parameters
- An actuated, positive form and force-fit clamping of the butt plate
- Large knurled head screws at backend offer high operating comfort
- Cover for adjustment screws for use in competition.

Delivered with
Plastic rifle case, accessory box with: Soft Link® shock absorber pads, additional weights, sight raiser block, filling adapter with air release screw, special grease, Allen key, instruction leaflet with original test target, service manual and stock design stickers.

S2 Version
The S2 version has improved air flow characteristics and needs about 50 % less impact energy to open the valve when firing the shot. Thus the air rifle barreled action is subjected to almost no vibrations. This could be reached by changing the following components:

- Valve body and valve (the valve body is coated with gold).
- Action head (visible from the golden coating).
- Improved cocking piston.
- New stabilizer which has a higher mass and an extended adjusting range.
- New spring box.
- New pressure regulator.
